Dawsons Construction – Points of difference:

Dawsons Construction Division prides itself on the personalised service and attention offered to clients. With a collaborative approach to business the team works in close cooperation with clients and stakeholders to specifically tailor the delivery of facilities to achieve optimum outcomes.

Each client has access to a complete consulting package, managed by a Project Manager and Site Supervisor, with regular site surveys and client feedback reviews.

The team thrives on the challenges presented by working in environmentally sensitive, culturally significant and geographically remote locations. In fact, they often solve the problems associated with this work, when other companies cannot.

Especially when working in remote areas, Dawsons Construction employs local indigenous labour and source tradesmen where possible through the local communities.

Dawsons values include “whatever it takes, whatever the job, whatever the location,” the division is highly mobile and able to keep costs low by being resourceful.

Dawson Construction can provide a fast solution by leveraging off the strength of other Dawsons divisions e.g. engineering, labour hire, waterjet cutting and the training division which ensures staff have the most up to date qualifications available.
